

Alleged topless photo rocks Ohio school

by UPI

MILFORD, Ohio -- Ohio's Clermont County school district has been thrown into disarray after a photograph emerged that allegedly shows a coach and one of her players topless. Goshen Local School Superintendent Charlene Thomas said the photograph, recently posted online, allegedly shows both women topless at an area party, the Cincinnati Enquirer reported Sunday. "The coach and the minor student took it upon themselves to take pictures of their anatomy and share it with some of their friends," Thomas told the newspaper. The late October party had occurred at the home of 19-year-old assistant football coach Andrew Emerson and allegedly involved cheerleading coach Victoria Schattauer and a 15-year-old female student, the newspaper said. The student who allegedly appeared topless in the photograph with Schattauer, could face disciplinary action. "Kids make mistakes," Thomas told the Enquirer of the incident. "We know that. Hopefully, these kids will learn from (them)."

Copyright © 2007, by United Press International. All Rights Reserved.

Alleged topless photo rocks Ohio school by UPI