

Nine die in train-van collision

by UPI

DIGHA, India -- A train slammed into a motorized cycle van in India Tuesday, killing nine people and injuring two more. The Press Trust of India said the 11:30 a.m. accident occurred at an unmanned crossing in the popular Bay of Bengal resort town of Digha. The injured were admitted to a hospital at Contai. Their conditions were not known.

Copyright © 2007, by United Press International. All Rights Reserved.

Nine die in train-van collision by UPI