BEND, Ore. — Today, April 14, at 6 p.m., the Obama presidential campaign will open an office in Bend, Oregon, bringing the total number of Obama offices in the state to eight. “We are excited about the growing support for Senator Obama across this state. This office in Bend will give local residents an opportunity to play a more personal role in building the Obama campaign and reaching out to their friends, families and neighbors about Senator Obama’s vision to unify America and bring real change to Washington D.C.,” said Nick Shapiro, Oregon Communications Director for the Obama Campaign. The office is located at 373 NE Greenwood Avenue, Bend, Oregon, 97702.
