

Blues legend John Hammond set to release 31st career album with G. Love at the helm

by Bend Weekly News Sources

Tour kick-off at B.B. King's in New York City

In-Store January 23, 2007

Date	City/State	Venue
2/6	Seattle, WA	Dimitriou's Jazz Alley
2/7	Seattle, WA	Dimitriou's Jazz Alley
2/9	Yakima, WA	Yakima Valley Museum
2/10	Portland, OR	Mississippi Studios
2/11	Glenden Beach, OR	Eden Hall

Blues luminary John Hammond is gearing up for the release of his 31st career album Push Comes To Shove on January 23 2007 on Back Porch Records. A Grammy-Award winner and multiple nominee, Hammond has enjoyed a career that has successfully spanned four decades -- working and playing with such blues greats as Muddy Waters, J.J. Cale, Howlin' Wolf and Tom Waits. On his latest release -- cut, mixed and mastered in a remarkable 9 days -- Hammond teamed up with Philly's own soulful hip-hop artist, G. Love, as producer. The result is the dozen stellar songs on Push Comes To Shove which range from the gritty title track to the hip-hop tinged duet with G. Love on "I'm Tore Down". At 64 years old, John can now also add songwriter to his impressive resume as he wrote an unprecedented five original tunes for Push Comes To Shove.

Hammond will kick-off the release of Push Comes To Shove and supporting tour with a performance at the famed B.B. King Blues Club & Grill in his native New York City on January 23rd. John will also be performing at Mississippi Studios in Portland, Oregon on February 10th.

Blues legend John Hammond set to release 31st career album with G. Love at the helm by Bend Weekly News Sources