Contest Gives Real Women the Chance to Appear in a Dove Ad

Millions of women have visited the Dove Campaign for Real Beauty Web site, many of them asking how they can be part of the campaign. Beginning this week, Dove is giving women the opportunity to appear in its next advertisement. Inspired by the Energy Glow line of moisturizers with self-tanners, the Dove Look Like Summer, Feel Like Summer Essay Contest invites women to share the summer experiences that make them glow.

Fashion and beauty expert Paige Sachs, who works with such magazines as Lucky, Glamour and Vogue, joins Dove to help kick-off the Look Like Summer, Feel Like Summer Contest and encourage women to submit their entries at www.doveglow.com. The contest asks entrants to describe what summer means to them, and then submit a photo of themselves in that summer setting.

"Many of us wish summer could last all year," said Sachs. "The Look Like Summer, Feel Like Summer Contest gives women a fun opportunity to be whisked away with thoughts of summer even as the snow is still melting away.

"Five women with the most impactful essays will win a summer getaway to their choice of five exciting destinations, a trip to New York City for a professional photo shoot, shopping money and a chance to appear in a national Dove magazine ad. Entries will be accepted from 12:00 A.M. EST on February 12, 2007 to 11:59:59 P.M. EST on March 22, 2007. The winners will be announced in June 2007 and may appear in the July issues of Lucky and Glamour.

"People have been so supportive of the Dove campaign and are continuing to engage in dialog about real women," said Kathy O'Brien, Dove marketing director. "This contest provides another chance for women to participate in our campaign and share their voice."

Look Like Summer, Feel Like Summer Contest entries will be reviewed by a panel of independent judges. Scoring will be based on creativity, written expression, sincerity and photo relevance to the contest theme. Contest rules are available at www.doveglow.com.
