Handcrafted in Los Angeles, Dogear Jewelry & Gifts, a best-selling brand, known for their hip, casual, good energy designs, is splashed all over the pages of Sports Illustrated, in their infamous swimsuit issue. Summer trends are leaning towards natural beauty, a casual comfortable attitude, sexy colorful swimsuits, and layers of handcrafted jewelry.

“Everyone looks to Sports Illustrated for the latest summer trends. Their photography, fantastic looking models, dreamy locations, hot swimwear and accessories always start the summer season,” said founder and designer, Marcia Maizel-Clarke. “Their spreads show beautiful jewelry that can be mixed, matched and layered. Unlike some of the bikinis, everyone can wear the jewels, layer them up, and feel happy and sexy.”

This summer, expect to see this alluring, natural look on beaches from Malibu to Rio. Necklaces and bracelets, worn singly or by the arm or neck-full. Talismans in gold and silver, chains and leather, stones and gems, all putting out that amazing feminine energy.

“We love summer,” concluded Maizel-Clarke. “We love the heat, the freedom, and we love that life slows down a bit. Good for the soul, and the earth. A true time for rejuvenation. We are all about the casual California lifestyle and while we can’t offer you the abs of the swimsuit models (don’t we wish), we love that our jewels can make anyone feel inspired and beautiful.”
