Professional Golf Tips: Use back foot for support in fairway bunker. In contrast to the green-side bunker shot where you want to strike the sand before the ball, with the fairway bunker shot you actually want to hit the ball before the sand. Even though these shots have two completely different goals, many players will set up to these shots the exact same way. The next time you find yourself in a fairway bunker, remind yourself that you are not in a green-side bunker and therefore the same factors do not apply.
