

Busted marijuana growers easily replaced, only increase price

by Kirk Muse

I'm writing about: "La Pine man busted for marijuana growing operation" (5-17-07). I'm sure many marijuana growers and sellers are thankful to the detectives of the Central Oregon Drug Enforcement Team for this latest marijuana bust and others like it. Without operations like this, marijuana would be worth what other easy-to-grow weeds are worth -- very little. Thanks to the Drug Enforcement Administration and other so-called "drug warriors," the easy-to-grow weed is worth more than pure gold -- and completely tax free. Any marijuana growers, sellers or traffickers arrested will soon be replaced. They always are.
