HOME SECURITY

Passengers traveling from Tel Aviv's Ben-Gurion Airport on El Al, Israel's national airline, have new off-site check-in options.

As part of a new comprehensive check-in service, a member of the El Al ground staff and a security representative will come directly to the passenger's home, hotel, office or other venue of choice and carry out the airline's full security check process, including baggage weigh-in on-site, eliminating the need for a wait at the airport. Passengers are also issued their boarding passes and all baggage is transferred directly to the airport, allowing passengers to proceed directly to passport control with their carry-on luggage.

The new service will be offered on flights departing from Israel only, in the area between Netanya to the north and Gedera to the south, Tel Aviv in the west and Jerusalem in the east. Passengers must pre-order by phone from 24 hours to six hours prior to the flight's departure, and can specify the best time and location. The service costs $49 for up to four passengers; $5 will be charged for each additional passenger and all payments must be made by credit card.

Organized groups can also take advantage of the new service, optimal for eliminating long group check-in waits at the airport, with the cost for a minimum of six passengers $15 per passenger.

FYI: For reservations, call 800-223-6700 or visit www.elal.com.
