

Gandolfini scrubs McCain appearance

by UPI

NEW YORK -- John McCain is holding a fund-raiser in New York without the advertised celebrity guest, "Sopranos" star James Gandolfini. The actor had to bow out of the Oct. 30 event due to scheduling problems that arose after the invitations were sent out, the New York Post said Friday. A source in the McCain camp told the Post that Gandolfini and the Republican presidential hopeful had dinner together recently and "have respect for each other."

Copyright © 2007, by United Press International. All Rights Reserved.

Gandolfini scrubs McCain appearance by UPI